EDUCATOR: JOHN BAKATOR

After completing a 31-year career with the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) I am now a practicing freelance tax and business consultant and executive coach. I help small and medium sized businesses manage and deal with regulatory compliance in the areas of tax and labour relations.

"In todays beauty industry more than ever it has become increasingly crucial to be up to date and fully compliant in all aspects of Canada's tax system. In an effort to ensure this, Karma enlisted the services of John Bakator to conduct a class for our stylists on how Revenue Canada views our industry. The feedback from our team was incredibly positive. They now have a much greater understanding when it comes to their finances and its tax implications, and are more secure with the information John provided to them. This is without doubt one of the most interesting and informative classes we have ever hosted at Karma."

-David Marsh, Karma Salon.
